Ready to explore?
Let’s go!
Discover the Met with us!

Use your imagination. What might you see, hear, taste, smell, or feel if you were inside an artwork?

Stay together. Look at and talk about art together. It’s more fun that way!

Look and ask questions. There is no right or wrong way to look at art. Ask questions to start a conversation.

Take a seat. Get comfortable and stay awhile.

Search for colors, shapes, or animals. How many can you find?

Keep in Mind
Sometimes we have to move works of art or even close galleries to prepare for exhibitions. When in doubt, ask a guard for help!

Please walk while you're in the Museum. Go too fast and you might miss something!

Thank you for not eating in the galleries.

Look with your eyes, not with your hands. Help us keep the artwork safe.

Move and pose. Act out stories and pose like the people, shapes, or lines you find.

Draw and write. Sketch or take a picture of your favorite work of art, or write a story inspired by it. Be creative and collaborate!

Talk. Use your inside voice to chat about what you see, think, and imagine.

You don’t have to see everything in one day... you can visit the Museum again and again!

Explore, learn, and have fun!

Set out on an adventure with a family guide. Hunt for details, uncover stories, and use your imagination to travel the world! Free and available at the Information Desks and online metmuseum.org/learn/for-kids.

Try a Family Audio Guide, designed especially for families with kids 6–12. Available at Audio Guide desks in the Great Hall, select special exhibition entrances, and Met Store locations throughout the building, as well as on your own mobile device.

Join us for free family programs. All materials are provided, and you don’t need to register for most programs. For a schedule, ask at the Information Desks, pick up a copy of our Programs for Kids and Families brochure, or go to metmuseum.org/metfamilies. Programs meet in Carson Family Hall, Ruth and Harold D. Uris Center for Education, Ground Floor, unless otherwise noted.

Read a picture book together or join Storytime in Nolen Library, Uris Center, Ground Floor.
